Description

A 19th century articulated campaign daybed with winding mechanism and the original walnut legs and casters. The leg part is operated by a winding mechanism at the front with a number of angles that you can set it to. The back rest operates simply by lifting and setting into one of the slots to the desired angle.

Upholstered some time ago in this pale green dralon velvet with buttoned detail.

If you would like this upholstery by us in a fabric of your choice please get in touch.
