Description

Vintage pine refectory table mid 20th century..

This Vintage refectory table is a good size and has good proportions. It has plenty of charm and character and the wood has a weathered bleached look about it which really suits it. The construction is solid and built using traditional methods with reclaimed timbers. The top is not fixed on and can be removed, it does have a wooden slat at either end that drop into the frame so once in place it requires great effort to lift it back out. The top will not slide off once in place.

As demonstrated in the photographs the table will seat 6 comfortably and 8 at a push.

198cm wide

76cm High

85.5cm Deep
